INSERT TO FORM 1066/SECTION IIIA-1 – CITY OF HUNTINGTON PARK

To date, the City of Huntington Park has implemented numerous programs and services that have helped the City come very close to achieving the fifty percent (50%) diversion goal. (Please see the programs and services enumerated in Section IIIA-3 below). In 1999, our diversion rate reached forty-six percent (46%) and the City Staff continued working to further improve the diversion rate. In late 1999, the City Staff began discussions to implement a curbside recycling pilot program and planned to initiate a residential curbside recycling program in conjunction with renewal of the residential franchise agreement. A number of events, as outlined below, has caused delays in the City implementing new recycling services for both the residential and commercial accounts.

In April 2000, the City Council terminated the exclusive franchise agreement with the residential hauler, effective December 31, 2003, and awarded a new exclusive residential franchise agreement to a new hauler to begin January 1, 2004. A referendum petition was filed with the City, however, challenging the new residential franchise agreement. Pending the election, it was unknown who would be providing residential services beginning in 2004. The election was held in November 2000, and the voters approved the new residential franchise agreement to begin January 1, 2004.

In addition, there have been two lawsuits by commercial haulers against the City. One lawsuit has been resolved, while the second lawsuit has yet to be completely resolved. In the year 2000, the City's exclusive commercial hauler filed suit against the City in regards to its agreement to provide exclusive commercial hauling. That lawsuit was resolved by a settlement in April 2001. The settlement, however, caused a new lawsuit to be filed in June 2001 against the City by a different commercial hauler. The second commercial hauler had earlier been awarded the City's commercial contract on the condition precedent that the previous lawsuit was resolved in the City's favor; the previous lawsuit, however, was not resolved in the City's favor. The Court, on September 20, 2002, agreed with the City and granted the City's motion for summary judgment in this second lawsuit. The City is waiting for the Court to execute the order granting the motion for summary judgment and to enter a judgment for the City. After the Trial Court executes the order and enters a judgment, however, this lawsuit is still subject to appeal by the commercial hauler.

Although the City has been very active and successful in implementing general recycling programs and services as outlined in Section IIIA-2 below, given all the uncertainty created by the referendum and lawsuits, it has been difficult, complex and nearly impossible, to implement new recycling services and programs involving the haulers during the last three years.

Further, the fact that the City will be transitioning its residential haulers beginning on January 1, 2004, also causes current constraints in implementing the residential curbside recycling program. The City, however, has been actively working with its residential haulers to expand the City's residential curbside program from its "pilot program" status and into a City-wide program. The City Staff requests the time extension to meet the July 2003 completion date as set forth in Section IV A below.

To further explain the constraints, both the current residential franchise agreement which expires on December 31, 2003, and the residential franchise agreement that commences on January 1, 2004, obligate each of the residential haulers to comply with AB 939, including the implementation of programs reasonably calculated to achieve the fifty percent (50%) diversion goal. The City requested that both haulers submit proposals for a residential curbside recycling program and recently received responses. The responses received from the haulers, unfortunately, were inadequate to provide a comprehensive plan that both implements services and programs through the expiration of the residential agreement expiring December 31, 2003, and provides for a smooth transition for the takeover by the new residential hauler thereafter. The City Staff, along with the City Attorney's office, is currently working with both haulers to achieve a comprehensive plan that will be implemented as of July 2003. The time extension is needed to coordinate the haulers and the program.

Finally, an issue has just recently arisen regarding possible conflicting contract language between our current commercial franchise agreement and the residential franchise agreement that begins on January 1, 2004. Both of the exclusive haulers are claiming that their agreement grants the right and obligation to pick up solid waste from multi-family residences in the City. The City Staff, along with the City Attorney's office, is reviewing this alleged issue. This issue may have some effect on the negotiations related to the commercial waste to energy program. The time extension is needed to properly implement the commercial waste energy program. Staff can meet the June 2003 date set forth in Section IVA below.
