

The program should consider encouraging projects to use both loans and grants where practical and to have CalRecycle staff coordinate the process of combining these sources of funding within the application.

Perhaps projects could indicate in their applications if they would consider grants and loans or combination of these funding sources and be given additional points if they select all options. This coordination will allow CalRecycle to make the best use of the available funds, award funds to a larger number of projects and ensure that projects are implemented at the lowest cost.
