

From: Levenson, Howard
Sent: Wednesday, June 19, 2013 8:19 AM
To: Climate Change CalRecycle
Cc: Smithline, Scott
Subject: FW: Thank you for getting us good guys called on yesterday.

Art Boone on residential collection of food waste

From: arthur boone [<mailto:arboone3@gmail.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, June 19, 2013 6:56 AM
To: Levenson, Howard
Subject: Thank you for getting us good guys called on yesterday.

Listening to the hand-wringing of the flackies from the waste hauling firms articulating their last line of defense is very tiresome.

Somehow this unveiling was rather lackluster; is Byron Sher Auditorium the last hurrah for the status quo?

My belief is that until you get to the residential collection of food debris, that recycling is some kind of a sideshow. Full spectrum organics collected in the green cart is the real game changer in getting folks to realize that, yes, the non-recyclable materials are a small volume, discrete-in-number, group of products and materials. Until then this is talk but, with full spectrum organics, the concept of garbage dies and "non-recyclable materials" as rubbish becomes the new challenge as so much else now has a place.

Good luck; NCRA will submit its comments by July 12.

ARBoone