

adaptation

A change in the body or behavior of a species, over a long time, resulting from a change in the environment.

camouflage
Coloring that makes it possible for an animal to blend with its surroundings, making it harder to see.

climate

The weather an area has most of the time.

The surroundings of a living thing.

environment

fawn

The name for a baby deer.

generation
The average time between the birth of parents and the birth of their offspring.

habitat

The place where a plant or animal lives and meets its needs.

host
A living thing on which another living thing lives and obtains things like food.

individual

A single member of a species or group.

inherit
To receive from one's parents or ancestors.

inherited trait

A trait that is passed down from parent to offspring.

molt
[verb] To shed skin, hair, or feathers before new growth.

population

The number of plants, people, or other animals that live in a place.

predator

An animal that kills and eats other animals.

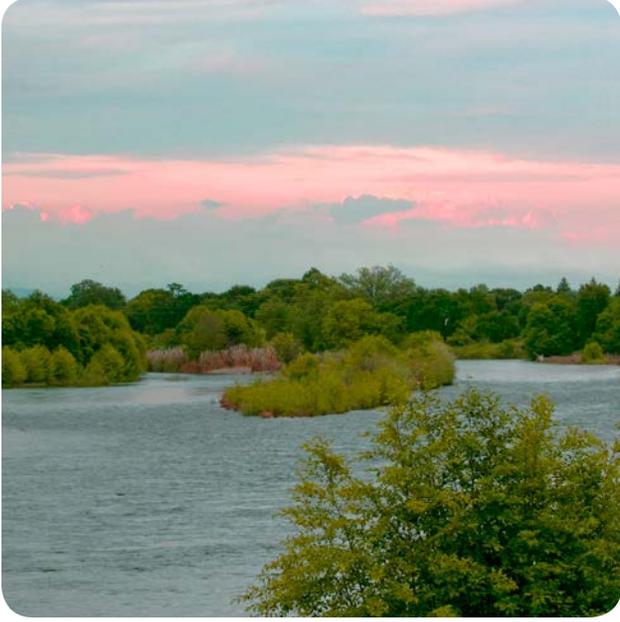

reject

To refuse or turn down.

reproduction
How plants and animals make new plants and animals like themselves.

riparian

Related to the banks of streams and rivers.

Related organisms that look like each other and can reproduce.

species

speckled

Covered with small spots.

survival

Staying alive.

trait

The way a living thing looks or acts.

variation
The differences in the ways living things look or act.

woodland

Land partly covered with trees.