

(KIDS) Check Your Number PSA

Two kids playing with a toy garage and small cars...

Kid 1: Vrrrooom, vroom, screech... gotta go... it's time for my oil change.

Kid 2: Wait, did you check your manual?

Kid 1: Nope, but it's been 3000 miles.

Kid 2: 3000 miles? Aw that old story...You should check your manual and see what it says..

Cuts to shots of cars on freeway, etc.

Narrator: That's right Zach!

Your car's oil change interval may be set at 5000, 7500, or even 10,000 miles!

With today's technologies, cars can maintain top performance and engine life while going longer between oil changes!

You could save money, time, and help the environment by not changing your oil too often.

Like Zach said, just "check your number" in your owner's manual!

Check YOUR number on the web at www dot Check Your Number dot org

Kid 1: 5000 miles! Cool! You saved me time and money...

Kid 2: Smiles and laughs

Kids continue to play making car sound effects ...

CalRecycle 2013 Copyright slate